Product description

Why choose this monitor?

Voxicon D27QP gives you a 27 inch IPS display with 2560 x 1440 resolution, offering more workspace and sharper text than Full HD. It is built for everyday home use where clarity, reliable color and low eye strain matter. The panel's flicker-free operation and Low Blue Light mode help during long sessions, while a slim, frameless design fits cleanly on a desk or in a multi-monitor setup.

D27QP in short:

- 27 inch QHD (2560 x 1440) IPS panel, better clarity and screen space for documents, spreadsheets and photo review.
- 2 ms response with 60 Hz refresh rate, suitable for smooth video playback and casual gaming.
- Low Blue Light and flicker-free technologies for reduced eye fatigue during extended use.
- Frameless design and VESA 100 x 100 mm mounting for neat multi-monitor layouts.
- HDMI, DisplayPort 1.2 and DVI-D inputs plus a headphone output. Note there is no adaptive sync (G-SYNC or FreeSync) and no built-in USB hub.

Display performance

The D27QP uses an IPS LCD with edge LED backlight to deliver consistent colors and wide viewing angles. Its 2560 x 1440 resolution, often called QHD or 1440p, provides noticeably more detail and workspace than 1920 x 1080. The 2 ms response time helps reduce motion blur, while the 60 Hz refresh cap means it is best suited to productivity, media consumption and casual gaming rather than fast competitive gaming.

Eye comfort and design

Low Blue Light technology reduces short-wavelength emission from the panel, and flicker-free control helps limit visible screen flicker. The monitor comes in black with a slim, nearly frameless bezel that minimizes distractions and improves the visual flow between adjacent screens. A stand is included, but there is no height adjustment. You can use the VESA 100 x 100 mm mount to attach alternative ergonomic arms or stands.

Connectivity and practical use

Inputs include one HDMI port, one DisplayPort 1.2 and one DVI-D port, with HDCP support for protected content. A single headphone output is available for private listening. The monitor has no built-in camera and no USB hub, and it ships with the AC cable. These features make it a practical choice for home workspaces that need a clear, reliable display and straightforward connectivity.
