Product description

Why choose this power strip?

Prokord Power Socket 3Xsocket 5m White provides a simple way to expand a single Type F wall outlet into three grounded sockets. It helps reduce cable clutter and lets you position equipment more freely, thanks to a long cable and an angled plug that fits easily behind furniture. The white finish suits offices and shared workspaces.

Power Socket 3Xsocket 5m White in short:

- Expands one Type F outlet into three grounded AC outlets for monitors, printers, chargers, and small network devices.
- 5 m cable gives you flexibility to place devices away from the wall socket.
- Angled Type F plug reduces stress behind furniture and in tight installations.
- White housing blends with standard office and IT environments.
- Designed for indoor use only; sold as a single unit.

Functionality

The power strip converts one mains outlet into three independent Type F sockets so you can run several devices from a single wall point. The grounded connections maintain safe earth continuity for compatible equipment. The design focuses on straightforward, reliable distribution of power without additional electronics or indicators.

Installation and compatibility

Installation is plug-and-play. The 5 m cable lets you reach workstations, meeting areas, or peripheral setups without rerouting existing sockets. The angled Type F plug helps you fit the unit behind desks or cabinets where space is limited. Use indoors and verify that the socket type matches your local mains system before purchase.
