Product description

Why choose this mouse?

Voxicon Office M30WL is a compact wired optical mouse for right-handed users that combines ergonomic comfort, adjustable 2000 dpi precision, and dependable controls for mobile work. It helps you get set up quickly with plug-and-play USB-A connectivity, adapts sensitivity for different tasks, and removes battery concerns with a cable-powered design.

Office M30WL in short:

- Ergonomic right-hand shape with sculpted contours to support natural wrist alignment during long sessions.
- Selectable 2000 dpi with three resolution modes, so you can tune sensitivity for spreadsheets, presentations, or general browsing.
- Five pressed buttons, including two thumb buttons and a dedicated DPI switch, for quick navigation and shortcut mapping.
- Single scroll wheel provides smooth vertical scrolling and tactile feedback for accurate navigation.
- Note: the wired USB-A connection may require a USB-C adapter on the newest laptops.

Performance and control

Office M30WL uses an optical sensor and three selectable resolution modes to give consistent tracking across most work surfaces. The DPI switch beneath the scroll wheel lets you change sensitivity on the fly, making it easy to move between precise editing and fast pointer movement without interrupting your workflow.

Ergonomic design

The mouse’s right-hand form is sculpted to support the thumb and palm, reducing strain when you work away from the office. Five pressed buttons provide tactile feedback for common tasks, and the rubberized scroll wheel gives reliable vertical scrolling and click feedback for precise document navigation.

Setup and durability

The wired USB-A connection delivers a stable link and constant power, so you do not need to worry about batteries or wireless interference. Its compact, travel-friendly profile fits carry-on gear and hot desks easily. The package includes a warranty card and user guide, so setup and basic support are straightforward.
